Harris County plans $1.2 bond issue for November ballot

HOUSTON – Harris County leaders took the first step to put a $1.2 billion bond referendum on the November 8 ballot. The proposal would devote $100 million to public safety facilities and technology, $900 million to roads, drainage, and transportation projects, and $200 million to parks.

Commissioners voted 3-2 along party lines to authorize multiple county departments to develop a capital improvement bond proposal. Judge Lina Hidalgo set conditions for casting her vote with her fellow Democrats, Commissioners Adrian Garcia and Rodney Ellis.

"The guidelines should include a 'worst-first' approach to match funds to the greatest need, with at least $220 million to be spent in each precinct and $100 million to be set aside for public safety," Hidalgo said.

The "worst-first" requirement addresses a concern that Commissioner Ellis raised, citing past bond initiatives where poorer neighborhoods like those in his Precinct 1 were shortchanged.

"There ought to be some money set aside, in my judgment, for those areas that have been historically neglected," Ellis said. "And one would just have to feign a lack of intelligence, or just have a total inability to see, to say that this county has been equitable in how it has spent transportation money over the last 30 years."

The language defining which specific projects the bond would fund remains uncertain.

"I do think we should have a list by the time the item goes to the voters,"

Judge Hidalgo said. "We do know that the bond would build or repair roughly 300 miles of county roads, create or improve close to 80 parks, that it would reduce flooding potential for about 13,000 residents through drainage improvements, (and) that it would improve road safety for over 20 miles of high-injury intersections. So, that's just what we got from the Budget Office."

By state law, counties must call for bond elections no sooner than 90 days before the designated election day and no later than 78 days before it. Since that window falls between Harris County Commissioners Court meetings, commissioners will need to convene a special meeting between August 12 and August 22 to take the formal vote to schedule the bond referendum.

Daniel Ramos, executive director of the Office of Management and Budget, said that if passed, the bond would cost the owner of a $300,000 home an extra $32 per year in taxes

COUNTY PROVIDES $48M FOR CHILDCARE

New program funded by American Rescue Plan funds will allocate historic $48 million dollar investment for childcare and early childhood development

HARRIS COUNTY - June 14, 2022, In a 3 to 2 vote, commissioners court approved a new program investing $48 million American Rescue Plan (ARPA) funds for childcare and early childhood development in Harris County. It is the largest known investment of ARPA dollars by any county or city in the nation for early childhood education.

"Early childhood programs have one of the strongest returns on investment of any type of public program. Those positive effects also endure throughout the child's life, increasing their graduation rates and future earnings while reducing any possible contact with the criminal justice system," said Judge Hidalgo. "We have an obligation to go beyond just the minimum standard of funding roads and bridges and public safety. We also have an obligation to support our next generation of workers and innovators and leaders."

The program will increase accessibility to high quality childcare and early childhood development by 10% in the third-largest county in the nation. Approximately 105,000 children aged 0-3 with working parents live in a quality child care desert in which there are few or no affordable options for quality child care in their area. Due to the high cost of childcare, often one parent is forced to stay home, preventing them from entering the workforce and costing families lost wages.

Since 2020, numerous childcare facilities have been forced to close due to the pandemic, adding burden to existing childcare deserts. This investment seeks to help childcare centers recover and stabilize financially so they can remain open while also providing childcare workers a liveable wage to help recruit and retain staff.

Judge Lina Hidalgo has led a groundbreaking effort to Russia sentences Griner to 9 years Swap or Appeal is possible

RUSSIA – Houston Native and Aldine Nimitz graduate Brittney Griner, was found guilty of drug possession and sentenced to 9 years in prison last week, as her trial ended. Although her attorneys had sought a minimum sentence, under Russian law this was one year short of the maximum 10 years possible.

However, Russia subsequently indicated by comments from Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov that a prisoner swap that involved several other American and Russian prisoners might be possible. He warned the United States government that any discussions of this matter must remain private, as they develop.

The Kremlin said Friday that it's open to talking about a possible prisoner exchange involving American basketball star Brittney Griner but strongly warned Washing-

Gun BuyBack takes 845 guns off Street

HOUSTON- Due to an overwhelming response from the public, the One Safe Houston Gun Buyback collected 845 firearms and distributed nearly $100,000 in gift cards on Saturday, July 30. As a result of the unprecedented response, the event, which began at 8 a.m. and was scheduled to end at noon, did not conclude until almost 7 p.m., when the last person collected a handful of gift cards. Earlier in the day, dozens of vehicles were turned away due to demand and long lines. However, more than 150 people were given priority vouchers for a place in line at the next gun buyback. Mayor Sylvester Turner and the Houston Police Department will announce a date soon for a second event.

"We used best practices to plan and hold today's event. I did not know what to expect, and the turnout was overwhelming," said Houston Mayor Sylvester Turner. "The turnout demonstrates there are too many guns on our streets, and people want to get them out of their possession. The gun buyback is not the only solution, but we can and will make our

GCCISD Board of Trustees Selected for Honor Board

BACK ROW, Mercedes Renteria III, Helen Berrott-Tims, Shae Cottar

Congratulations are in order for the Goose Creek CISD Board of Trustees. They, along with four other school districts from across the state of Texas, were selected as Honor School Boards as part of the 2022 TASA School Board Awards.

Each year, the program recognizes outstanding Texas school boards for commitment and service that has made a positive impact on Texas public school students. The five Honor Boards were selected by a committee of Texas school superintendents, chaired by Aledo ISD Superintendent Susan Bohn, whose school board was named the Outstanding School Board for 2021. The selection committee's decisions were based on criteria that include: support for educational performance, support for educational improvement projects, commitment to a code of ethics, and maintenance of harmonious and supportive relationships among board members.

Along with Goose Creek CISD, four school boards were selected as 2022 Texas Honor School Boards. They include: East Chambers ISD Board of Trustees, Lubbock-Cooper ISD Board of Trustees, Lyford CISD Board of Trustees, and Quinlan ISD Board of Trustees.

The School Board Awards Committee stated that the Goose Creek CISD board was notable for a number of reasons, including the well-developed long-range plan they have created for the district and their policy for gaining community input.

The board also seeks and incorporates feedback from the district's student advisory council on some policy matters. Overall, the committee was impressed by the relationships that Goose Creek Board members have cultivated and how well-integrated they are into the community. Superintendent Randal O'Brien said of the board in his nomination: "While it was a difficult school year for all of us, we continue to receive positive feedback from our families about the stellar efforts of our campus and district teams. Without the dedication of our board and absolute commitment to do whatever it takes to ensure our students' success, we would not have been able to have completed the school year so smoothly."

While this is the first time in the award program's history that the boards of East Chambers ISD, Goose Creek CISD, and Lyford CISD have been selected as statewide honor boards, Quinlan ISD's board was chosen as an honor board in 2002, and Lubbock-Cooper's board was an honor board in 1997.

The five boards are now finalists for the program's highest honor: 2022 Outstanding School Board. They will be interviewed September 23 at the TASA | TASB Convention in San Antonio, where one board will be named Outstanding School Board later that day. The other Honor Boards, as well as the regional winners, will also be recognized at that time.

Burn Ban Lifted in Chambers County

After receiving significant rainfall, the drought index for Chambers County has dropped below drought levels, alleviating the need for a ban on outdoor burning. In addition, Chambers county is expected to receive more rainfall this week. However, please exercise caution during any legal burning activities, and always monitor burning at all times. Shoreline Restoration Work to Begin at McFaddin National Wildlife Refuge

SABINE PASS — The Texas General Land Office (GLO) and multiple partners are set to begin work on the restoration of approximately 17 miles of the McFaddin National Wildlife Refuge (NWR) shoreline in Jefferson and Chambers counties.

The restoration project will span from High Island to Sea Rim State Park and will improve the shoreline by widening its beaches to better accommodate recreation, stabilizing the shoreline against further erosion by planting native species and constructing dunes, as well as protecting its marsh system, which acts as a critical habitat for wildlife.

Beach closures for this project will begin on August 10, 2022 and occur in approximately 4-mile sections. The public is asked to respect posted warnings and avoid driving vehicles in designated work zones or active construction areas. Please note that violations will be subject to citation. Once closed sections have been completed, the restored areas will be opened to the public for use. Construction is expected to continue through December 2023.

The GLO is committed to preserving Texas' coastal environment through continuous efforts to keep our beaches clean, safe, and easily accessible to the public. Through this restoration project and others like it, the GLO will continue to partner with coastal communities to preserve the future of the Texas coast.

Project partners include McFaddin NWR, Jefferson County, Chambers County, National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (NFWF), Natural Resources Damage Assessment (NRDA), Deepwater Horizon Texas Trustees, United States Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS), Resources and Ecosystems Sustainability, Tourist Opportunities, Revived Economies of the Gulf Coast States Act (RESTORE), and Salt Bayou Workgroup.

THOUGHTS FROM HILLSIDE CHURCH

By Dr. Mark Trice

Acting, not Reacting

Christians share one great thing in common: Community. This is never so evident as during hard times. When something big happens that affects a member of our community, we leap into action. Whether it's cleanup after a hurricane or tornado, supporting one another during major illnesses, offering compassion to those who have lost loved ones, or making door drops for homebound covid sufferers, we are there.

In John 13:35 (NLT) Jesus said, "Your love for one another will prove to the world that you are my disciples." And there it is. Those of us who truly love and serve the Lord strive to show the love of God to one another. This verse specifically addresses loving our brothers and sisters in the Lord, but there are other verses that challenge us even more. They push us to love like Jesus loved.

In Matthew 5:44-45a (NLT), Jesus declares, "But I say, love your enemies! Pray for those who persecute you! In that way, you will be acting as true children of your Father in heaven."

We all want change in the world. We want the enemies of God to get their heads on straight and start seeing truth. But change like that doesn't just happen. Change starts with us. So we have to ask ourselves this question. "How do our actions influence that change?" The Word says that, if we love our enemies, then we are acting as true children of our Father in heaven. These are great words, an awesome standard to strive for. Do we live up to it? Really?

How do we respond when we're attacked? Do we act in love, or do we react in the flesh? Do we, perhaps, try to outshout our attacker...or worse? Don't get me wrong, presenting the truth is of vital importance and we must not be silent, but the way we present truth makes a huge difference in how that truth is received.

We are told to love our enemies for a reason. As 1 Corinthians 13:8 assures us, love never fails. There is unbelievable power in actively choosing to love our enemies, to pray for them, to ask God to bless them like Jesus compels us to in The Beatitudes. Luke 6:28 (NLT): "Bless those who curse you. Pray for those who hurt you." The blessing of God is mighty beyond our imagining, and it can change the heart of the worst sinner out there.

If we really want change, we need to keep on speaking God's truth, but we also need to show genuine love and make a point of hitting our knees on behalf of those who so obviously need God's touch.

We need to act, not react.

Houston Methodist Hospital Baytown

Signs It's Time to See a Cardiologist

Given that heart disease remains the nation's No. 1 killer of adults, it hardly needs noting that keeping the organ in peak condition should be a top priority.

Doctors habitually promote exercise and a healthy diet to reduce their risk of heart disease. But people still develop heart issues, one reason someone in the U.S. dies from cardiovascular disease every 36 seconds.

It's also a reason more people should see a cardiologist. Specialists in diseases of the heart and blood vessels, cardiologists administer and evaluate tests, manage patients' risk factors, determine the best treatment and prevent complications.

Dr. Zohair Raza, a cardiologist at Houston Methodist Baytown, lays out the symptoms that warrant an immediate visit to a cardiologist, the risk factors that signal you already should have a cardiologist and what to expect at your first appointment, including specific tests. His bottom-line message: It's almost never too soon to see a cardiologist.

"I would say the earlier, the better," says Dr. Raza. "You never want to wait too long."

WHO SHOULD SCHEDULE AN APPOINTMENT?

Definitely see a cardiologist if you're experiencing:

- *Chest pain
- *Shortness of breath
- *Abnormally fast or slow heart rate
- *Swelling in your legs
- *Dizziness or fainting

"Sometimes people don't have these classic symptoms, but they would still benefit from seeing a cardiologist because they know they're not doing well," says Dr. Raza. "It is also good to know where you stand in the spectrum of your cardiovascular health, from knowledge to practice."

Ideally, it doesn't come to an acute issue. The best time to seek out a cardiologist is based on risk factors before symptoms hit.

WHAT RISK FACTORS MAKE YOU A CANDIDATE?

It's time to schedule an appointment if you have any of the following key risk factors:

1. A family history of heart disease
2. A history of smoking
3. Diabetes
4. High cholesterol
5. High blood pressure

WHAT SHOULD YOU EXPECT AT YOUR APPOINTMENT WITH A CARDIOLOGIST?

Dr. Raza says your first cardiology appointment will include a complete assessment of your symptoms, an analysis of your risk factors and an estimate of where you stand in terms of tests needed.

Presumably, your primary care doctor already has conducted tests to determine your cholesterol, glucose and blood pressure. Depending on your condition, your cardiologist could order any of a number of additional tests, including:

*An exercise cardiac stress test: determines how your heart responds when it's working its hardest

*An electrocardiogram: records your heart's electrical activity to check for different conditions

*An echocardiogram: checks how your heart's chambers and valves are pumping blood

*A coronary artery calcium scoring test: uses computerized tomography (CT) to detect calcified plaque on the artery

*A CT or invasive coronary angiogram: both use a powerful X-ray machine to produce images of your heart and its blood vessels

*A cardiac MRI: produces still or moving pictures of the blood flowing through the heart

Dr. Raza says everyone, especially those with risk factors, should get the calcium scoring test. The more evidence of calcium and thickening seen in the inside lining of the arteries, the higher the score. The higher your CAC score, the more likely you are to develop heart disease or have an event such as a heart attack or stroke.

In any event, Dr. Raza says you really can't go wrong with scheduling an appointment with a cardiologist.

"A cardiologist just provides an additional perspective, a focus on your cardiovascular health as opposed to your general health," says Dr. Raza. "We help you do what you need to do to prevent cardiovascular disease, which is the important question to avoid premature death. So, one visit a year, or once every couple of years, is definitely worth it."

For more information or to schedule an appointment with a cardiologist, head to houstonmethodist.org/baytown or call 832.556.6625.

THE POSTSCRIPT By Carrie Classon

"Lulu"

My husband, Peter, and I are back in our little place in San Miguel de Allende, Mexico.

Of course, it is not really "our" place. We don't own it and have no desire to own anything here larger than a pressure cooker...

A large box that had formerly held boxes of Cocoa Puffs was already in our apartment, filled with the things we had been allowed to leave behind...

I'm not used to having housekeeping. But Lulu comes twice a week, and I'm getting to like it.

Of course, I wash all my dishes, and six days of the week I make my own bed. I don't leave clutter lying about...

Lulu always says she is doing fine.

Lulu is an older woman, thin and somewhat severe. Her hair is pulled back into a tight bun and she wears glasses...

It was a bit awkward at first. I was nervous having her in the apartment. Should I leave? Was I in her way?

Because I can't think of a better person to have a little extra money than Lulu. She always thanks me, and I thank her...

And, of course, it is her job. But there is an ordinary kindness that Lulu embodies that warms my heart...

When Lulu is gone, the apartment smells of disinfectant soap—a pungent smell I will always associate with Mexico...

Till next time, Carrie Photos from the column and other info can be found at CarrieClasson.com.

DSHS Gets Nearly 15,000 Monkeypox Vaccines

The Texas Department of State Health Services has received and distributed 14,780 doses of the monkey pox vaccine to local health departments and DSHS regional offices.

The disease causes a serious skin rash with painful lesions and appears to be spreading through direct contact with the skin or saliva of an infected person.

Risks include having sex, kissing or hugging someone with monkeypox or sharing cups, utensils, bedding or towels with them, according to DSHS.

Through July 29, a total of 5,189 monkeypox cases have been reported nationwide, with 351 of those in Texas.

COMMUTING TIMES SHOW INCREASE IN STATE

When it comes to commuting to work in Texas, two items stand out. Nearly 90 percent of Texans travel alone to work, and it takes longer to get to where one's going these days.

According to census data analyzed by the Texas Demographic Center, the number of commuters who from 2015-2020 spent up to an hour on the road getting to work stood at 17.2%, up from 15.7% from 2010-2015.

More than 95% drove a car, truck or van to work, while a scant 1.3% used public transportation, excluding taxis.

'URBAN HEAT ISLANDS' EXACERBATE SUMMER TEMPS

It's been hot out there this summer, and cities are recording record temperatures. The Texas A&M Forest Service notes that developed areas often experience higher temperatures than rural areas.

Areas in these microclimates of a highly developed city, known as urban heat islands, can be up to 20 degrees warmer than surrounding areas that are more rural, according to Climate Central...

Mac Martin, with the forest service, noted planting or saving large expanses of trees in urban areas can go a long way toward cooling temperatures.

"We are thrilled to partner with these communities on these critical historic preservation projects," said THC Executive Director Mark Wolfe.

Throughout the state, 104 counties have received grants from the THC program, with $350 million allotted to fund the full restoration of 78 courthouses...

DESPITE RAIN, FIRE DANGER REMAINS HIGH

Scattered rain in the upper Texas Panhandle, the Upper Gulf Coast and East Texas have lessened the fire danger somewhat in those areas, but the risk remains high with temperatures hovering above 100 degrees.

With 224 counties now under burn bans, officials are urging landowners to be extra vigilant about preventing fires.

"We just want people to have a hyper sense of awareness," Hank Jones, Williamson County Fire Marshal, told the Statesman.

Cedar trees can especially cause problems in Central Texas because they drop needles underneath that can quickly ignite.

NEW COVID-19 CASES DROP IN TEXAS

The number of new cases of COVID-19 in Texas dropped in the past week to 72,653, with 154 deaths reported, about even with the previous week...

The number of lab-confirmed COVID-19 hospitalizations rose slightly to 3,624 across the state, according to DSHS.

expand the availability of childcare and other early childhood education initiatives. Harris County invested nearly $9 million in an Early Childhood Impact Fund, which is supporting home-based child care businesses, infant/toddler literacy, and resources for foster children. The county also established the $4.7 million COVID-19 Childcare Assistance Program to provide families with learning and childcare opportunities during the pandemic. With an investment of $500,000 in ARPA funds, the county created a Child Tax Credit engagement program that brought in over $13 million in tax credits for Harris County families. The $20 million lead abatement program will test thousands of Harris County children for elevated lead levels and remove lead from their homes. The county has implemented best-in-class family-friendly workplace policies including 12 weeks paid parental leave, additional sick leave and resources for finding child care.

sions between Moscow and Washington over Russia's military action in Ukraine. Asked at the White House Friday about the prospects of securing Griner's release, President Joe Biden said: "I'm hopeful... We're working hard." In an extraordinary move, U.S. Secretary of State Antony Blinken spoke last week to Russian Foreign Minister Sergey Lavrov, urging him to accept a deal under which Griner and Paul Whelan, an American jailed in Russia on espionage charges, would go free. Lavrov said Moscow was "ready to discuss" a prisoner swap but that the topic should only be discussed via a dedicated Russia-U.S. channel that Biden and Russian President Vladimir Putin agreed to establish when they met in Geneva in June 2021.

"If the Americans again try to engage in public diplomacy and make loud statements about their intention to take certain steps, it's their business, I would even say their problem," Lavrov said. "The Americans often have trouble observing agreements on calm and professional work." In Moscow, Kremlin spokesman Dmitry Peskov made the same point more harshly, saying "the U.S. already has made mistakes, trying to solve such problems via 'microphone diplomacy.' They are not solved that way."

He, too, emphasized that any discussions on a possible trade should be held via the previously established confidential channels that Putin and Biden agree to during last year's summit. "Such mechanisms exist, but they will be thrown into doubt if the discussion continues in the public domain," Peskov said. He said: "If we discuss any nuances related to the issue of exchange via media, no exchange will ever take place." People familiar with the U.S. proposal have said it envisions trading Griner and Whelan for a notorious Russian arms trader, Viktor Bout. He is serving a 25-year sentence in the U.S. after being convicted of conspiracy to kill U.S. citizens and providing aid to a terrorist organization.

The call between Blinken and Lavrov marked the highest-level known contact between Washington and Moscow since Russia sent troops into Ukraine more than five months ago, underlining the public pressure that the White House has faced to get Griner released. On Thursday, Biden denounced the Russian judge's verdict and sentence as "unacceptable" and said he would continue working to bring Griner and Whelan home.

County proposes $1.2b bond issue over the life of the 25-year bond.

"This commissioners court can pass this bond initiative and still continue to cut tax rates for the foreseeable future," said County Administrator David Berry. "If there is any added cost to a particular household, it will be because their appraisal went up."

Commissioner Jack Cagle, a Republican, wasn't convinced. "I always thought that debt costs something to somebody at some time," Cagle said. "And so I don't know that I quite buy the idea that this is free money. And I don't think the public will either. They've had to tighten their belt coming out of the pandemic. They have had to tighten their belt coming after Harvey. And I think that we should do the same."

Republican Commissioner Tom Ramsey repeated a point he had made in previous court sessions discussing the possibility of a bond referendum, arguing the process was being rushed and was less than transparent.

"I think a bond issue in November of 2023 makes some sense. It gives us time to communicate with the constituents. It gives the constituents time to communicate with us," Ramsey said. "But I'll not be supporting a 2022 (bond issue), because we honestly are not ready, in my opinion, to take that to the voters."

Commissioner Garcia, who has been leading the effort to get the bond issue on the ballot this year, responded to concerns Ramsey raised about a lack of trust among voters by saying, "The folks that I speak to also don't have a lot of trust in Harris County because of things that were done prior to 2019," that is, when Republicans held the majority on the court. "Precinct 2 has been largely underfunded, under-served, and roads and parks were not well funded... So, there wasn't trust. The trust is there today."

streets safer and help reduce gun violence."

The successful event was a collaboration between Mayor Turner, Harris County Commissioner Rodney Ellis, U.S. Rep. Sheila Jackson Lee, and the Houston Police Department. U.S. Rep. Al Green, Council Member Abbie Kamin and other elected officials and community leaders attended Saturday's event at Wheeler Avenue Baptist Church. Mayor Turner extended a special note of gratitude to the volunteers, Pastor Jose Ortega of NACC Disaster Services, and Wheeler Avenue Baptist Church.

"Thanks to all who made our gun buyback event such an incredible success. By all measures, it was one of the most successful gun buyback events in the nation. I commend the partnership between the City of Houston, HPD, and Harris County, who put this event together. The work continues.

Tomorrow we'll continue to roll up our sleeves and work to stop gun violence," said Harris County Precinct One Commissioner Rodney Ellis.

The gun buyback was no questions asked and the type and working condition of the gun determined the gift card amount. HPD will check each gun collected to determine if it was stolen or used in a crime. HPD will destroy all guns that cannot be returned to their rightful owners or not considered evidence in a crime.

"I am so proud of our city. People can say what they want, but time and again, Houstonians step up with common sense and love. I thank all the men and women in uniform and the volunteers who made this day successful. I knew there would be a lot of people, but even I did not think there would be this many people the first time," said Houston Police Chief Troy Finner.
