The one downfall, according to Kostka, is the children don't get to see Santa ride in on the fire

Snow in Crosby; Future Teachers; CES Flights; math

Hello East Harris County and Crosby ISD families.

The chill in the air means we are just days away from Christmas and the start of a new year. Although we don't typically have snow in this part of the area, that doesn't mean our students can't experience the fun of snow! More than 400 students from our elementary schools had a chance to experience snow this month, thanks to the Harris County Precinct 3 Commissioner's Office. with Santa Claus. Students had a chance to share their wish lists with Santa, enjoy cookies, and make crafts. These holiday parties are something the Crosby Community Center does each year, and our kids just love it.

Our students have continued to achieve this month. Congratulations go out to the Crosby High School Choir freshman singer Eduardo Palomo. He advanced during the third round of Pre-Area State auditions. Eduardo secured 4th chair, being only one of 5 chosen for his section. Way to go, Eduardo!

Crosby High School is growing future teachers! Students, Bella Chapman and Taylor Hannan, competed at the Texas Association of Future Educators (TAFE) conference this month. They created an interactive bulletin board on the life cycle of butter-

"They were doing this long before I was ever in the club, serving the hot chocolate to the children," she said.

Kostka explained that area organizations choose part of the event to sponsor either financially or present to serve or both.

"The Rotary Club has done the hot chocolate for years, and Highlands Horizons provided the cookies and candy canes, the chamber of commerce is here volunteering, and the Seniors Helping Seniors group here at the San Jacinto Community Center paid for the pizza and treats," Kostka said.

"We like it this way because our trees are out of the elements and there's no maintenance to it," Smith said. She explained that there were times the wind would blow out the lights or the ornaments off the tree and they would have to go out there often to rewire things.

"This is one of our favorite events for the year," Smith said. The club had about a dozen members present to help serve the hot chocolate, the pizza, and other goodies.

Yes, Virginia, There is a Santa Claus

By FRANCIS P. CHURCH,

First published in The New York Sun in 1897

We take pleasure in answering thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun:

Dear Editor-

I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus. Papa says, "If you see it in The Sun, it's so." Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa

Virginia O'Hanlon

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours, man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies. You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if you did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived could tear apart. Only faith, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives and lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, nay 10 times 10,000 years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Francis P. Church's editorial, "Yes Virginia, There is a Santa Claus" was an immediate sensation, and went on to became one of the most famous editorials ever written. It first appeared in the The New York Sun in 1897, almost a hundred years ago, and was reprinted annually until 1949 when the paper went out of business.

Virginia O'Hanlon went on to graduate from Hunter College with a Bachelor of Arts degree at age 21. The following year she received her Master's from Columbia, and in 1912 she began teaching in the New York City school system, later becoming a principal. After 47 years, she retired as an educator. Throughout her life she received a steady stream of mail about her Santa Claus letter, and to each reply she attached an attractive printed copy of the Church editorial. Virginia O'Hanlon Douglas died on May 13, 1971, at the age of 81, in a nursing home in Valatie, N.Y.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS By Gary Borders

Legal Challenges to Amendments Appear to be Quashed

A half-dozen lawsuits challenging the 13 approved Texas constitutional amendments appear to be dead in the water, The Dallas Morning News reported. The secretary of state's office last week declared the propositions approved and now a part of the Texas Constitution, while Gov. Greg Abbott canvassed the election and certified the results. One proposition that would have raised the retirement age of judges was rejected by vot-

In addition, the Texas attorney general's office said the lawsuits had improper "citation and return of service." The plaintiffs are unable to correction those citations because the election results have been certified.

The six nearly identical lawsuits claimed the state used uncertified polling machines that exposed the election to voter fraud, and the plaintiffs called for the courts to throw out the Nov. 7 results and hold a new election using paper ballots only, The News reported.

The suits threatened to delay voter-approved property tax cuts and a raise in retired teachers' pensions.

ABBOTT ENTERS PRIMARY BATTLE FRAY, MUM ON FIFTH SPECIAL SESSION

The Texas Legislature's fourth special session ended last week with the House and Senate still at loggerheads over Abbott's push to allow the use of taxpayer money to pay for private school costs, commonly known as school vouchers. Last month, 21 House Republicans joined with Democrats to remove the voucher provision from a broad education bill that did not pass both chambers.

Abbott is sticking to his promise to endorse primary challengers to House Republicans who voted against the voucher plan, the Texas Tribune reported. With the holiday season underway, it appears unlikely there will be another special session this year, but Lt. Gov. Dan Patrick said he believed the best day to come back for another session "would be Feb. 5, 30 days before the election."

The impasse means legislation to increase public school funding, provide teacher bonuses and hike funding for school safety measures also died on the vine.

STATE HALTS EFFORTS TO TAKE FAIRFIELD LAKE

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has ceased its efforts to seize a 5,000-acre tract of private land that once included a state park and adjoins Fairfield Lake, The News reported. A private developer purchased the property from a utility company for about $103 million last June and plans to close Fairfield Lake State Park were announced. The land for the park had been leased from Vistra Corp., the utility company for 50 years. Todd Interests, the developer, plans to build luxury homes with a golf course, restaurants and shops, as well as access to a private air strip. Less than two weeks after the developer bought the property, the state voted to condemn the land using eminent domain.

A judge-appointed commission of three Freestone County residents put the fair market value of the property at $418.3 million - more than four times what the developer paid for it. Fairfield Lake is considered the largest privately owned lake in the state and possibly the nation, The News reported.

STATE SEEKS PUBLIC INPUT ON BROADBAND INTERNET

The Texas Broadband Development Office is soliciting input from the public on the proposed Texas Digital Opportunity Plan, which seeks to improve and expand broadband access across the state. Almost 7 million Texans lack access to high-speed internet, or nearly 25% of residents.

"Access to reliable, highspeed internet as a means of advancing education, training, employment opportunities, healthcare, and delivery of essential services is critical to the future of our state," said Glenn Hegar, comptrol-

Through Jan. 5 of next year, Texans can give their opinions on the plan by visiting broadbandfortexas.com/

The newly created broadband office is partnering with chambers of commerce, the Texas Workforce Commission, industry associations and elected officials to highlight the importance of access to high-speed internet in today's digital world.

WORKERS' COMP COSTS DROP IN STATE

A report issued by the Texas Department of Insurance indicates that the cost of treating injured employees in the state's workers' compensation system dropped considerably from 2012 through 2022. Total health care costs dropped 30%, from $1.15 billion in 2012 to $812 million last year, while the total number of claims dropped 20% during the same period, from 319,000 to 256,000.

Hospital costs also dropped 20% in that decade, while the costs for professional services - such as physicians - was down 26%, from $657 million to $483 million.

The report used administrative data reported by insurance carriers for the 10-year period. The costs were not adjusted for inflation, which would have made the decrease in costs even greater.

PUC APPROVES NEW PRICE PROTECTIONS DURING POWER EMERGENCIES

The Public Utility Commission has implemented a new Emergency Pricing Program that limits consumer exposure to high wholesale electricity prices during power emergencies, as occurred during Winter Storm Uri in February 2021.

"Implementing the Emergency Pricing Program provides another layer of financial protection for Texas consumers and will ensure their electricity bills remain affordable even when conditions are tight in the ERCOT system," Thomas Gleeson, PUC executive director, said.

The new program comes after passage of Senate Bill 3 during the last regular legislative session.

"This is a key part of our ongoing work to ensure electric reliability for Texans at a reasonable cost," Gleeson

Road Trip

Me and the Mrs. took a road trip to South Carolina recently to visit my sister as she had a stroke. Fortunately, there is no paralysis, but it did effect her mentally.

That is over a thousand miles there and another grand back to the Lone Star State. We have not been in the direction in over 3 years, so we got to see lots of familiar places during the trip. Still lots of dummies on the road and huggers in the left lane of traffic.

We followed Shermans route through Atlanta but took the Perimeter around Atlanta to avoid the downtown mess. They have rebuilt Atlanta and continue road work to this day. Mercy day at the people. This road goes under the airport runway for a bit and a sight to see.

The Mrs. always looks forward to going to this part of the country as they have restaurant chains called BOJANGLES. She has to have her country ham fix (that is the salty kind).

The temperature dropped to freezing one morning along the backwaters of the Catawba River. Makes one appreciate our Gulf Coast temperatures.

Got to go to a local fish camp one evening for suppers. They had two kinds of slaw, sour and regular. Had to try the sour and only a small portion as Iwouldn't hit a hog in the butt with such. They added vinegar to make it taste that way.

Auburn was playing LSU on the day of the trip and so thankful that we stopped and had a bite to eat before traveling through War Eagle territory. That gave traffic a chance to thin way down by the time we made it through there.

Sister has one of the prettiest cats, a solid black and shiny male. Oh so pretty and both cats remembered me from past visits or maybe it was the rattling of the cat treat container. She named the black cat Panther and the name fits.

Meanwhile back in Texas one must say there have been too many good friends passing lately. Don't care for that, hits too close to home.

One was an old RM2 on the ship in Boston. Nice guy, apple farmer knows Morris code and rolled his own Bull Durham.

The other was an old friend from Highlands, Texas. He was my gardening guru. About as nice a guy, you'd ever want to meet.

Counted over 60 tomatoes on one of his tomato plants, awesome and you'd have to see it to believe. Had another friend call me and ask the secret of how his success is growing tomatoes.

SEASON FOOTBALL WEEK 16

Texans hit road to take on Titans: Cowboys face tough task at Buffalo

With just three weeks left in the 2023 NFL's regular season, the Houston Texans are firmly in contention for a playoff berth.

When the season began, Texan fans would have been happy with a six-win season, but first-year head coach DeMeco Ryans and his team had grander

Not much was expected of Ryans in his first year as an NFL head coach. The Texans were starting a rookie quarterback in C.J. Stroud and were coming off a three-win season in 2022 and over the last two years had mustered seven total wins.

Well, two weeks ago, Houston surpassed the seven-win plateau with a 22-17 home win over Denver to end the Broncos fivegame winning streak. Last Sunday, the Texans played a struggling Jets team in New Jersey. If they won that game, which they should have, they would be looking at eight wins heading into another road game this Sunday when they visit Nashville to take on a struggling Tennessee Titans game in an important AFC South contest for Ryan's team.

Ryans has to be considered for Coach of the Year and Stroud appears a lock for Rookie of the Year, and while individual awards are nice, Ryans is all about the team. Should they win at Tennessee on Sunday, the Texans could very well come home with a 9-5 record heading into their final three games, two of which are at home (against Cleveland and Tennessee). Houston closes out the season at Indianapolis. The Colts defeated the Texans in Week 2 at home, so the season finale in Indy could be very significant.

The Denver win was costly for the Texans as rookie wide receiver Tank Dell (47 receptions, 709 yards, 7 TDs) was lost for the season when he sustained a broken fibula in the game. Dell is Stroud's deep threat and replacing his speed and big-play ability won't be easy.

While the Texans hit the road this Sunday, so to do the Dallas Cowboys, who will head north to take on the Buffalo Bills. There are a lot of places other than western New York the Cowboys would like to be in mid-December, but the schedule is what the schedule is and if Dallas wants to remain in the hunt for the NFC East title, they will need to forget about the weather and just play.

The Bills are in danger of not making the playoffs, which will not well with their fans. Should Buffalo fail to qualify for the post season, head coach Sean McDermott's job could be in jeopardy.

This is the time of year when the NFL plays Saturday games just as the college bowl season cranks up. The league gives us a triple header on Saturday as Minnesota visits Cincinnati, Pittsburgh visits the Colts and Denver heads to the Motor City to take on the Lions.

The Sunday Night Football crew has a good one as Baltimore visits Jacksonville, with the winner remaining in the hunt for the No. 1 seed in the AFC. Baltimore, Jacksonville and Miami entered last weekend's games with nine wins each. It's going to be an interesting finish in the AFC.

Week 15 concludes with Monday Night Football with the Eagles visiting the desperate Seahawks. Seattle can't afford to lose any more games if Pete Carroll's team hopes to make the playoffs. Hosting Philly won't be easy.

As the bowl season starts up, college football fans will have plenty of games to watch as they wait for the College Football Playoff semifinals on Jan. 1. Texas (ranked No. 3 in the CFP ranking) fans are ecstatic over landing one of the four CFP berths and they will face No. 2-ranked Washington in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's night, while No. 1-ranked Michigan faces No. 4-ranked Alabama in the Rose Bowl. Florida State fans are livid that their 13-0 Seminoles were excluded from the CFP in favor of 12-1 Alabama. While I understand their frustration and anger, the CFP committee got it right. Alabama defeated No. 1ranked Georgia, the two-time national champ and in the process ended Kirby Smart's teams 30game winning streak. I think an SEC title outweighs an ACC title, but that's just me. FSU and Georgia will meet in the Orange Bowl and take out their frustrations on being excluded from the CFP on each other.

Before we take a look at this weekend's key NFL games, let's review last week's record. A 6-2 mark upped the season record to 97-45 (68%). Now, onto this weekend's game.

NFI

Los Angeles Chargers at Las Vegas: Week 15 starts with Thursday Night Football as the Chargers and Raiders meet in an AFC West contest. The Chargers are one of the most disappointing teams in the NFL. They have a lot of talent, but always seem to underachieve. Two weeks ago, they won an ugly game at New England, 6-0. This could turn into an offensive shootout as Justin Herbert (3,038 yards, 20 TDs), running back Austin Ekeler (446 rushing yards, 4 TDs/31 receptions, 295 yards, 1 TD) and wide receiver Keenan Allen (102 receptions, 1,175 yards, 7 TDs) look to take out their frustrations against the Raiders. Vegas is once again playing for next year and is giving rookie QB Aiden O'Connell (1,933 yards, 4 TDs) a look. He'll count on running back Josh Jacobs (771 yards, 6 TDs) and wide receiver Davante Adams (69 receptions, 814 yards, 4 TDs) to help him out against the Chargers. Look for the Raiders to continue to make things miserable for the Chargers. My pick, Las Vegas 31, Los Angeles Chargers 27

Minnesota at Cincinnati: Two desperate teams meet in Cinci on Saturday as the Vikings visit the Bengals. Both of these team's playoff chances are slim, so look for both teams to play hard on Saturday to keep their fledgling postseason hopes alive. The Vikings need a better effort from QB Joshua Dobbs (832 yards, 5 TDs/5 interceptions). He has some weapons in tight end T.J. Hockenson (80 receptions, 786 yards, 5 TDs), and rookie wide receiver Jordan Addison (54 receptions, 686 yards, 7 TDs). Dobbs should also have star wideout Justin Jefferson (36 receptions, 571 yards, 3 TDs in just five games) back after he missed five games with a hamstring injury. The Bengals have been ravaged by injuries, most notably to starting QB Joe Burrow. The Bengals picked up a big road win two weeks ago when they upset Jacksonville, 34-31 in overtime. Backup QB Jake Browning (649 yards, 3 TDs) is playing well in place of Burrow, but he will need help from running back Joe Mixon (689 vards, 6 TDs0 and big-play wideout Ja'Marr Chase (86 receptions, 1,063 yards, 7 TDs) to keep the Bengals' playoff hopes alive. My pick, Cincinnati 23, Minnesota 20

Houston at Tennessee: The Texans can expect the Titans to pull out the Luv Ya Blue uniforms on Sunday, which should serve as motivation heading into this key AFC South contest for Houston. Stroud (3,540 yards, 20 TDs) has thus far proven he is up to the task either playing at home or on the road and he will face a Titans team that would like nothing more than to put a wrench in the Texans playoff hopes. With Dell gone, Stroud will rely on fellow wide out Nico Collins (59 receptions, 991 yards, 6 TDs), tight end Dalton Schultz and Noah Brown to make plays in the passing game. The Houston defense will need to slow down their nemesis, running back Derrick Henry (he has rushed for more than 200 yards four times against the Texans). Henry has 841 rushing yards and eight TDs this year. Look for the Houston defense to get after rookie QB Will Levis (1,266 yards, 7 TDs) as that unit steps up and helps lead the Texans to a key road win. My pick, Houston 26, Tennessee 23

Dallas at Buffalo: After playing three straight home games, the Cowboys face a stern test when they visit Western New York on Sunday to take on a desperate Bills team. Dallas QB Dak Prescott (3,234 yards, 26 TDs) is having perhaps his best year as a pro and he has plenty of weapons to help him out in running back Tony Pollard (737 yards, 5 TDs), wide receiver CeeDee Lamb (90 receptions, 1,182 yards, 7 TDs) and tight end Jake Ferguson (46 receptions, 498 yards, 5 TDs). The Dallas defense will need to bring

it's "A" game when it faces Bills QB Josh Allen (3,214 passing yards, 24 TDs/342 rushing yards, 9 TDs), running back James Cook (731 yards, 1 TD) and big-play wide receiver Stefon Diggs (83 receptions, 969 yards, 8 TDs). Two weeks ago, Seattle torched the Dallas secondary for 334 yards and three TDs. If that unit doesn't tighten things up, Dallas could be in for a long day against Allen. My pick, Dallas 30, Buffalo 27

Baltimore at Jacksonville: A good one on Sunday Night

Football pits two of the best teams in the AFC. Both teams are alive (along with Miami) for the top seed in the AFC, so look for a tight competitive game on Sunday night in Jacksonville. The Ravens are once again led by QB Lamar Jackson (2,618 yards, 13 TDS/574 rushing yards, 5 TDS). He's getting help in the running game from Gus Edwards (590 yards, 10 TDs) and in the passing game by rookie wide receiver Zay Jones (58 receptions, 613 yards, 2 TDs). The Jags suffered a big blow two weeks ago in their 34-31 overtime loss at home to Cincinnati when starting QB Trevor Lawrence (3,004 yareds, 14 TDs) suffered a right ankle sprain. It's not known how long Lawrence will be out, but if he's unable to go against the Ravens, the Jags could be in for a long night. The Jags will need a big night from running back Travis Etienne (771 yards, 9 total TDs) and wide receivers Christian Kirk (57 receptions, 787 yards, 3 TDs) and Calvin Ridley (51 receptions, 689 yards, 5 TDs to make life easier for backup QB C.J. Bethard if Lawrence is unable to play. The Jags are tough to beat at home and the Ravens will discover that on Sunday night. My pick, Jacksonville 26, Baltimore 23 (if Lawrence plays); Baltimore 24, Jacksonville 17 (if Lawrence does not play)

Philadelphia at Seattle: Week 15 concludes on Monday Night Football as the Eagles travel cross country to take on the Seahawks. Two weeks ago, the Eagles were dominated at home by the 49ers en route to a 42-19 thrashing, while Seattle lost a shootout at Dallas, 41-35. The Eagles defense must play better than it did against SF and should be able to force a turnover or two from Seattle QB Geno Smith (2,918 yards, 15 TDs/ 9 interceptions). Seattle should get running back Kenneth Walker III (613 yards, 6 TDS) back after he missed a couple of games with an injury. Smith will look to make plays in the passing game to wideouts DK Metcalf (49 receptions, 812 yards, 6 TDs) and

Tyler Lockett (59 receptions, 622 yards, 4 TDs). Philly will need a big game from QB Jalen Hurts (2,995 passing yards, 19 TDs/430 rushing yards, 12 TDs), running back D'Andre Swift (783 yards, 4 TDs) and wide receivers A.J. Brown (81 receptions, 1,164 yards, 7 TDs) and DeVonta Smith (64 receptions, 834 yards, 6 TDs). The Eagles have the Cowboys breathing down their necks in the NFC East, so look for Philly to pick up a big road win on Monday night. My pick, Philadelphia 31, Seattle competition this spring at the Kalahari Resort. Great job, Bella and Taylor!

A shout-out to Crosby Elementary School for hosting around-the-world "flights" for students to see different holiday celebrations across the globe. "CES Airways Flight 101" made its first stop in Mexico. Students had a chance to wear holiday pajamas and bring luggage. They had to show their "passports" and have them stamped before boarding their pretend plane. At Drew Elementary, Charlene the Elf is hiding out each day for a lucky staff member to find and receive a surprise! All elementary campuses are hosting dress-up days this month to celebrate the holidays, including "Mad About Plaid" Day at Barrett Elementary and "Ugly Sweater" Day at Newport Elementary.

I wanted to give kudos to the math team at Crosby High School. They transformed a boot camp for Algebra I and II students into a carnival atmosphere. Students who needed extra instruction had a chance to enjoy a personalized and compelling learning experience. It didn't feel like a study session as much as spending some time under the big top. Our teachers and campus leaders are doing big things to help our students succeed.

Thanks to Friendly Ford of Crosby, ten more staff members received free oil changes for having perfect attendance in November. What's so great is that Friendly Ford comes to our campuses to change the oil, so our staff members don't have to leave the campus and can check one thing off their personal 'to do' list.

One programming note! The Crosby ISD free student-run grocery distribution at Cougar Stadium will take a break for the holidays. Our next Thursday grocery giveaway will happen in January and will continue most Thursdays throughout the spring semester. Any family in need is welcome. The hours of operation are 9am-Noon.

The school district's Winter Break is scheduled for December 22 through January 5 for students. Teachers return on January 5, while students return on January 8. I hope the next few weeks are filled with love and light for our families. There's no better place to be for the holidays than Crosby and Barrett Station.

Merry Christmas! Happy Holidays!
